FIRE IN NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE HALTS TRADING

Crossed Wires Behind Enunciator Board Are Responsible For Blaze And Smoke-Filled Room.

BUSINESS HELD UP

New York, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Fire broke out in the New York Stock Exchange today, the enunciator board at the north end of the Exchange being ablaze. Several lines of hose were brought into the building.

The smoke became so dense after the formal opening of the Exchange at 10 o'clock this morning that the Board of Governors postponed all trading until 11 o'clock.

Crossed wires are believed to have been responsible for the fire. The wooden landings behind the board became ignited. It was announced that stock ticker wires were not affected.

Fire Under Control

When the opening gong sounded at 10 o'clock the floor was crowded with traders, despite the thick smoke, and authorities ordered everybody off the floor until 10:45. Firemen had checked the blaze but helmeted firefighters were still playing hose lines in the smoke-filled room when trading was resumed.

The President will leave the Mayflower here making the trip to the mountain by automobile.

He has promised to make a brief speech here at the city hall as he passes through.

Fifteen Million Russians Caught In Famine's Grasp

Former Russian Premier Gives Graphic Description Of Horrors In Russia.

By EDWARD HULLINGER
(Written for the United Press.)
Paris, France, Aug. 2.—Fifteen million persons in Russia will perish of hunger and disease this year if immediate aid is not extended them, Alexander Kerensky declared today in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

"Never, in the history of the world has such a calamity confronted a nation," Kerensky declared. "Never has such a mass of people been left with no provisions and exposed to disease. Even the great famines in China and India are not to be compared to Russia today."

The former Russian premier returned from Prague, where he had been exhorting Czech-Slovakians to aid Russia. He said refugees whom he had encountered there gave him the information on which his statements were based. "A minimum of 11,000,000 tons of wheat is necessary to save Russia," he declared. Without betraying triumph in any way, Kerensky, who was driven from Russia by the Bolsheviks, said the famine would ultimately lead to the elimination of the radical leaders and reorganization of the Russian government.

Over ten million persons have joined the great caravans which toil over the dusty plains in the "death march" in search of food. Thousands drop daily by the wayside.

SID HATFIELD IS HOME FROM HIS LAST BATTLE

Mountaineers Make Open Threats As Bodies Of Gunman And Lieutenant Reach Matteawan.

BODIES AT MATTEWAN

Matteawan, W. Va., July.—Sid Hatfield, the Cumberland Mt. gunman, came home today from his last battle. Work in the mines was neglected, stores closed and mothers and their babes clustered around the rickety railway station here when the body of the fallen chieftain arrived from Welsh, W. Va. where "Silent Sid" and his lieutenant, Ed. Chambers, fell yesterday in a pistol fight.

Ugly Looks and Threats

There were ugly looks and threats from women and men alike as the mob milled in the dusty railroad yard when the body of the late Mingo Mine War leader, in a rude pine coffin, slid down the rough planks to the station platform. Reese Chambers, father of one of the slain men, stirred about and muttered threats. The spirit of feudism flared again in the breasts of the gaunt mountain folks who crowded around the two coffins. The score will be evened at the first opportunity, many said.

Dynamic Situation Disclosed

The spark of renewed warfare may touch off a dynamic situation up and down the hillsides. Since the three day battle two months ago, in which the Kentucky and West Virginia hills were raked by rifle and machine gun fire from hidden snipers, the vantage points have been maintained and may bring about battle on a larger scale.

The crowd milled and churned about the two coffins until Hatfield's widow ordered his body taken across the street to her store. Chambers' body was carried away by his father and two brothers.

SOVIET MUST ABIDE BY DEMANDS OR GET NO RELIEF

Release Of American Prisoners And Freedom Of Action Of Relief Workers Is Demanded

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—Extension of American relief to famine stricken children and the aged of Soviet Russia today awaited the following:

First: Actual release of American prisoners now held in Russia.

Second: Absolute guarantees of freedom of action to American relief workers.

The second condition may be the stumbling block against extension of relief. Herbert Hoover, head of the American Relief work, today reiterated insistence of absolute freedom of movement of the relief workers, while the Soviet's reply to his demands stated American prisoners would be released, it did not agree to his demands for freedom of action for workers.

Failure of the Soviet Government to subscribe to this principle will cause the United States to withhold food relief, it is believed.

Slacker Given One Year Jail Sentence

New York, Aug. 2.—(A. P.)—Louis D. Lovitz of Brooklyn, the first man named in the Government slacker lists to be tried here by court-martial, was sentenced today to serve one year in military prison and forfeit all pay and allowances from the date of induction, May, 1915.

Five Shot In Fuss Over Prohibition

Enrico Caruso, the world's most noted tenor, and his wife and baby Gloria, on board the President Wilson as they sailed from New York to his home in Italy, where the famous tenor expected to recuperate from the operation performed in New York last winter. It proved to be his last trip across the Atlantic.

Enrico Caruso's Golden Voice Stilled Forever

Famous Tenor Passes Away In Early Morn At His Boyhood Home In Naples. Death Results From Abscess Following New York Operation. Became Famous When Only A Lad Of Eleven.

Naples, Italy, Aug. 3.—Enrico Caruso, the world's greatest tenor, died here at 4 o'clock this morning. His golden voice was stilled forever when he failed to rally from a relapse after an operation for an abscess. His death had been expected for several hours before the end came. Caruso never fully rallied from the effects of an operation for pleurisy he underwent last winter in New York, and which operation, physicians say, resulted in an abscess.

Born In Naples.

Enrico Caruso was born in Naples on February 25, 1873. At the age of 11 the boy tenor began singing in churches in his native city and it was there his voice attracted widespread attention.

Son Grief-Stricken.

Culver, Ind., Aug. 2.—"Mimi" Caruso, son of the great tenor, was bowed in grief today when informed of the death of his father. The son, who is a pupil at the Culver Military Academy, was so stricken he could not talk of his plans. He has not decided whether he will leave for Italy pending receipt of word from Naples.

LOCAL SCHOOLS START SEPT. 6TH

Officials Urge All Parents To Have Children Vaccinated Before School Starts.

The Clearfield public schools will open on Tuesday, September 6th. The school law provides that no child shall enter school until he or she is successfully vaccinated. Therefore the parents of all children who will enter school for the first time this year should see that this matter is attended to.

Get the little one vaccinated now if you have not already done so. Don't wait until the day before school starts and then have the child vaccinated. Adjustment to school conditions for the first time is hard enough upon pupils and teacher, without having the little one suffering from the possible pain, inconvenience and uncomfatableness due to vaccination at the same time.

Don't let this important matter slip your attention but have the child vaccinated now.

CLEARFIELD CREEK BRIDGE APPROACHES BEING IMPROVED

Superintendent Wescott Will Try To Finish Job Without Opening Detour Around The Bridge.

County Superintendent of Roads, E. M. Wescott with a large crew of men is at work putting in the bridge approaches at the Clearfield Creek Bridge on the Woodland road. This is an important and much traveled road and Supt. Westcott does not want to close the same and make the long detour by Litz's bridge or Shawville possible, and it is up to local users of the road to allow this work to be done without closing the road.

The approaches will be of "water-bound concrete" construction which requires a base of coarse limestone. This limestone has to be rolled after it is placed and right here is where the difficulty comes in. About the time one course is put in and rolled along will come a truck and tear it all loose again. Now here is what we are getting at. It is going to take at least the next two days to get over this part of the construction and if local truck users will appreciate the situation and refrain from using the road during that time the work can be done without closing the road, otherwise the long detours mentioned will have to be resorted to.

Mr. Westcott hopes that local people will refrain, as much as possible, from using the Woodland road until this part of the work is completed, especially with trucks, the regular automobile is not so bad. He is not asking much and the proper co-operation will be of mutual advantage.

Aged Woman Victim Of Brutal Thugs

Butler, Aug. 2.—Alleged to have attacked Mrs. Catherine Goltz, aged 82, of Cunningham, near here yesterday, Charles Smith and Robert Moffatt, of New Kensington, were arrested a short time later by State police and lodged in the county jail here. The aged woman was said to have been alone in her home at the time of the assault, and was unable to escape her assailants, who beat her on the head and body. Several hundred dollars, which was hidden in a false bottom of a trunk, was left untouched.

Street Improvement And Beautification Of River Banks Discussed At Monday Night Session.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of council held in the Borough building was participated in by President Fletcher, Burgess Chase and Councilmen McFarland, McNeerlin, Rosses, Gilliland, Jay and McCloskey.

Burgess Chase reported three arrests for July, with the collection of $28 in fines and $7.50 in licenses for the month.

The regular routine business of council was then disposed of and but little of importance transpired during the evening.

Fourth Street Relief Drain

Engineer Hess reported at length on matters in his charge and gave it as his opinion that a 24-inch relief drain up Pine street to Fourth would relieve storm water conditions all along Fourth street. The Engineer also recommended that the sewers on all the hill streets be carried on up to the top of the hill for the purpose of catching the surface water before it breaks over the hill and thus avoid the carrying of dirt and debris down onto Fourth street.

The Engineer also reported the plans for sanitary sewers on Martin, Barclay and Fifth streets, as about completed. He also reported the right of way survey through the Hile property for the relief drain near Odgen Avenue had been completed and construction would start at once. The progress made on Bigler Avenue and Orr's Run sanitary sewers was also reported on.

South Fourth Street Paving

The Engineer also reported the progress already made on South Fourth street concrete paving by Foreman Emery. He stated that plans for this paving called for a thicker slab, with more additional re-inforcing on the edges of the slab than are required by the State Highway Department and should make a very substantial paving.

River Bank Improvement

Messrs. Samuel Powell, A. M. Pearce, Paul T. Flaherty, (F. B. Reed and A. D. Rieker, the joint committee representing the Rotary and Commercial Clubs, were present regarding the beautifying of the banks of the Susquehanna river through the town. They asked permission to have the weeds and grass cut along the banks and same was given to them. The matter of the extension of the outfall sewers out into the river was also discussed and the Committee informed that work would be done shortly.

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD PROBE IS NOW UNDER WAY

Former Comptroller Of Currency Makes Serious Charges Against Policy Of Board.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—Charges that the Federal Reserve Board has discriminated against agricultural interests in favor of eastern manufacturers were made by John Skelton Williams, former Comptroller of Currency, before the joint Senate and House Agriculture Committee. He asserted the Board discounted a much greater percentage of paper in the eastern banks than in farming sections.

SPRAYING INCREASES POTATO YIELD 40 P. C.

The year's first results in yield of sprayed potatoes over those not given the modern method of disease treatment, were reported from Union county last week, and showed an increase of forty per cent in favor of spraying. Representatives of the Pennsylvania State College, in checking up this production of early potatoes, say that it may indicate the difference in yield for the late crop, and emphasize the importance of spraying constantly from the very beginning of the season.

This year has already been shown to be below the average for Pennsylvania potatoes, and with the price now at $2 a bushel and sure to advance by fall, those growers who have been taking steps to control the disease will have the greater percentage of yield and profit. The state average last year for sprayed potatoes was 33 per cent more than for unsprayed, or 74 bushels per acre. Indications are that this will be increased this year. Conditions favorable to blight have been marked in some sections of the state already, and danger of it is not past by any means. "Keep the spray going to the very end of the season," is the advice from the Penn State specialists.

Much assistance has been given the State during the past twelve months in securing more accredited dairy herds, by the Pennsylvania State College. Fifteen hundred agreements for the accredited herd plan were secured for as many farmers by college dairy extension men.

With forty-nine cow testing associations, Pennsylvania ranks second only to Wisconsin in this branch of farm activity fostered by the Pennsylvania State College dairy extension specialists. During the past year 800 cows were discarded as unprofitable as the result of the tests.

FARM CLUBS ESTABLISH ENROLLMENT RECORD

An increase of more than twenty-five per cent in the number of boys and girls enrolled in agricultural club activities in Pennsylvania was made during the past year, according to the semi-annual report of C. G. McBride, director of that work at the Pennsylvania State College. There has also been a great increase in the number of clubs and the interest displayed by

Do you know you can roll 50 good cigarettes for 10cts from one bag of farm boys and girls and their parents. There are now a total of 157 clubs with 1923 boys and girls engaged in poultry, swine, dairy, potato, corn, garden and beef cattle activities. There were 131 clubs with 1508 members last year.

Butler county leads the 49 Pennsylvania counties where club work is under way, with a total of thirteen organizations having 251 members. Ten of these clubs are doing potato work. Lycoming and Northumberland come second with eight clubs each, while Erie and Franklin tie for third with seven each. Pig breeding clubs are the most frequent, there being 71 of these with 663 members throughout the state. Dairy clubs are also popular, 33 of these having 338 youngsters intensely interested in that branch of farm work. There are 20 potato clubs, 18 pig feeding, eight poultry, three corn, three beef cattle and one garden.

BLACK SUMAC LEAVES

Rural residents of regions in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland, and North Carolina will reap an uncultivated harvest this summer and fall when the leaves and fresh branches of black sumac become ready for use in tanning and dyeing.

Manufacturers of domestic sumac extract inform the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, that they will need this year between 300 and 400 carloads of the product. In the sections mentioned, small-scale gathering is feasible, because storekeepers generally act as agents to buy the sumac and sell it to the carload dealers. While sumac is generally distributed throughout the United States, its purchase thru local dealers is not organized in other States, so that manufacturers can buy in carload lots.

Only black sumac will be accepted this year, and the leaf must be bright. It is understood that dealers either will not buy low grade at all, or will materially cut the price on it. First-grade sumac must contain no berries and less than 25 per cent of stalks.

The price paid the farmer per 100 pounds delivered loose to the country dealer will approximate $1.

Farmers planning to gather sumac this season should immediately consult their nearest dealer of storekeeper, who will advise them fully as to the quantity of sumac he will be able to handle and as to quality required. He will also advise as to bugs or other means of delivery.

The United States Department of Agriculture has prepared Department Bulletin 706 on American Sumac, giving detailed directions for the proper gathering and curing of the leaves. Farmers who intend to gather sumac this season and have not a copy of the bulletin, should immediately write for a copy.

"By Skinny"

A Wisconsin brewer has asked permission of the Federal authorities to donate 1000 barrels of real honest-to-goodness lager beer to the United States Public Health Service for use medicinally in military hospitals and homes for veterans. Needless to add the inmates of each such institute thus far approached are a unit in favor of the donation. The beer is sealed in the vats of the brewery as the result of Federal Court order.

It is certainly too bad when we think about how badly it would bankrupt this richest country in the world to give her ex-service men the bonus that is being asked for by the organizations of the men who made the world safe for the railroads. Here is what some other countries have done for the men who bared their breasts to the foe in defense of flag and country:

France paid each of her discharged soldiers $233.58 as a bonus.
England paid from $141 each to privates to $7,290 to officers.
Italy paid from $64 to $850.
Australia paid from $98 to $751.
Canada paid from $600 to $4,738.
The United States gave our officers and privates a $60 tip!

We, the richest of all nations, are the only nation among our late associates which has not finally adjusted our obligations to our soldiers.

An envelope dropped on our desk the other day containing a clipping from Damon Runyan's column in the New York American. Evidently the sender was impressed with the faithful service of the average newsboy. The newsboy has never received his just dues and we pass this along to our readers in order that the little fellows who deliver your Progress may receive the credit that is due them. The Progress boys deliver over two thousand Progresses every evening. There are bound to be some people missed but they do remarkably well; in many instances not a single complaint being received and rarely more than three or four. And do not forget that in many instances the wind or a neighborhood had boy appropriates your paper. However, the Progress boys want you to tell us promptly when you do not get your Progress as many times he is not at fault and the complaint will enable us to hunt the trouble. Do not take for granted that we know it when you do not get your paper. Tell us quick.

But here is what Damon says:

THE TOWN CRIER

The newsboy of today in a sense fulfills the functions of the town crier of old who went around ringing a bell and announcing the news of the day to the public. The newsboy, calling his papers, generally adds enough information about what is in the publications to impel you to buy, and become further informed.

It is conceivable that many persons, did they not hear the voices of the "newsies," would omit buying a paper at the moment, and thus miss something to their great benefit, either in news or advertising.

Without the newsboy we would lose one of the greatest schools of business training in the world. Selling newspapers develops energy, a keen sense of competition and a knowledge of human nature. From the humble occupation of selling newspapers have come some of the greatest business men in this country.

When you see a "newsie," in fact, you see a youthful business man, as much entitled to respect and consideration as the head of any bank or department store. He is making his own living. He asks no favors. He has something to sell, worth the price he is asking, and he is as legitimate and as worthy as any other business man.

I venture the assertion that more successful merchants and financiers in America have started their careers selling newspapers than any other occupation can show. I further venture the assertion that all are proud of their beginning.

Disposing Of The Troublesome Tariff

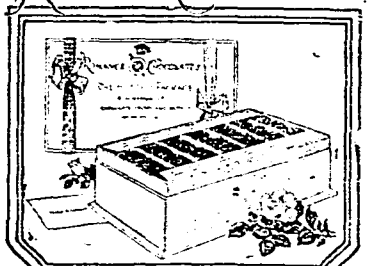

Washington, Aug. 2. (United Press.)—Once more Congress has shed its coat and tackled that legislative stumbling block of political parties—the tariff. To pass a tariff bill and not ruffle somebody's feelings is as difficult as petting a porcupine without getting ruffed. Therefore, enacting a tariff bill is not a favorite Congressional indoor sport.

Several senators were sighing over the moribund prospect of wrestling with the vexatious subject, when Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, remarked that he regarded the tariff in the same light as the late Senator Taylor, of Tennessee, "Piddling Bob" was stamping his "stifle" and during a speech a man in the audience arose and asked, "Gov'nah, tell us what you think of the tariff."

"I think we ought to pay off the tariff and get rid of it," shot back the senator.

That Telephone Accident. Frederick Wilson Truscott, professor of German at West Virginia university, says it is a rare age. He finds that daily use of modern appliances is not leaving English unimpaired. Last term he gave a course involving Goethe's "Torquato Tasso," of which the class used a text with the lines numbered. Professor Truscott began his lecture on this particular work by asking his students if they had had any difficulty with it. First Mention of Horse in Bible. In the Bible we find the use of the horse first mentioned in the history of Jacob and Joseph. Their use seems to have been discouraged in the time of Moses. Solomon carried on a trade in horses, having them brought from Egypt. Rider, in his time had no saddles, but sat upon a piece of cloth. That humble relative of the horse, the ass, was the means of royalty and it was a mark of distinction to do that animal, of later date an object of ridicule.

PENNSYLVANIA'S ROADS

Pennsylvania will be at the end of her highway-making program in 1923 and construction will be at a standstill for two years, unless a revision of the constitution provides otherwise, State Highway Commissioner Lewis S. Sadler told the Western Chester County Good Roads Association at Crystal Springs Park.

The work of continuing the construction of the State's magnificent chain of highways may be halted completely, the commissioner warned, unless additional funds are provided soon. The close of next year will see the expenditure of the last of the $50,000,000 bond issue authorized by the voters of the State in 1918, as well as every cent available for construction work from the 1919 and 1921 legislative appropriations.

When the present construction season closes, Pennsylvania will have completed 600 miles of eighteen-foot roadway into which concrete enters in some form, Commissioner Sadler believes. A similar mileage will be built in 1922. During 1919 and 1920 the State of Pennsylvania constructed 666.65 miles of durable highway, while the macadam resurfacing for 1919, 1920 and 1921 will approximate 700 miles.

The total construction of modern type roadways during the four years beginning 1919 will approximate 2,000 miles. But when 1923 arrives Pennsylvania will be without funds other than the appropriation which will be made by the legislature in that year, unless revision of the constitution occurs. Under the provisions of the present constitution, which requires the approval of two legislatures and of the people of Pennsylvania, sufficient funds for a continuation of the road-building program cannot be had until 1925.

"For two and one-half years," said Commissioner Sadler, "Pennsylvania has set the road-building pace for the United States. Whether we are to continue being the pacemakers depends upon the people of Pennsylvania."

Commissioner Sadler presented figures showing various road type mileages in Pennsylvania. At this time the hard-surfaced roads in Pennsylvania approximate 4,650.5 miles. Of this total, 1557.5 are modern-type highways and the balance is macadam. Since January, 1919, and up until Thursday, July 28, the Pennsylvania highway department had constructed 972 miles of modern-type highways, 305 miles of which have been built during the present construction season.

There are 10,200 miles of roadway on the state highway system, and on January 1, 1920, 5883.5 miles were of earth, shale or cinder. The gravel roads totaled 193.04 and the flint 161.7. There were seven miles of bridges. The balance of the mileage is made up of macadam, concrete, asphalt, brick, wood block and stone.

Commissioner Sadler told his audience that it is the aim of the department to connect all of the improved sections of roadways as quickly as possible, so as to complete a network which will be travelable 365 days a year. Pennsylvania's modern-typed roadways approximate a greater mileage than in any other two states in the Union, he said.

TRIPLE EFFORT FOR LABOR

"The Republican administration is now engaged in three lines of effort for the promotion of the welfare of American labor," says the Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Honorable Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "It is restricting immigration, framing an import tariff on cheap foreign goods, and building up our export trade."

"Restriction of immigration has a double purpose—to relieve the labor situation at a time when there are more men than there are jobs, and to give opportunity for the Americanization of the foreign element already here before admitting any considerable number of new immigrants. In both particulars the effect upon American labor will be good, for there will not only be less competition in numbers of workmen but as a result of the Americanization of the immigrants their standards of living will be raised and they will expect and ask the same wage standard the American workman desires."

"The enactment of an import tariff law will supplement the restriction-of immigration. There is little use protecting the American workman from the competition of immigrant labor if we are to leave our ports open to the free admission of the products of foreign labor. A workman who can come to this country and lower the standard of wages and living by his competition here can also lower the American standard by producing goods at home and shipping them here to be sold in competition with the product of American labor. This is a fact frequently overlooked by Democrats who favor restriction of immigration but oppose any restriction on the importation of the products of the labor of the men they do not wish to admit as immigrants. In truth, if we are to choose between admitting foreign labor or the products of foreign labor, the former is preferable, for the foreign laborer admitted to this country will spend much of his earnings here, while the foreign laborer who produces at home and ships the product here, spends his earnings abroad. It is not proposed to enact an import duty that will be absolutely prohibitive, but to make the import tax high enough to represent the difference in cost of production, and thus put the American producer on an equality with his foreign competitor.

"In building up export trade the government is pursuing several plans—permitting combinations for export sales, sending trade representatives to all the principal nations, and maintaining a merchant marine which will be an agency for the establishment of regular trade routes as well as extending the opportunity for shipment of American goods to markets not hitherto reached. Every dollar's worth of American goods shipped abroad means a dollar to be expended for the payment of American wages or the purchase of American raw materials."

"War's aftermath finds several million men out of employment. Government cannot find a complete remedy for such an economic condition. The present administration is doing everything possible, however, to afford all the relief that can be attained through legislation and administration."

WIRELESS. CRAZE. IS AIDING COLLEGE ENROLLMENT NOW

State College, Pa., Aug. 2.—Is the wireless and telephony craze that has swept over "Young America" in the past few years responsible for so many high school boys selecting electrical engineering for their life work? Almost one in every five applicants for admission to the coming freshman class at the Pennsylvania State College wants to be an electrical engineer.

President John M. Thomas offers the wireless and its attendant "boy attractions" as one solution. The future professional demands of the country, as seen thru the eyes of the coming college student, are in a measure told in the interesting pre-registration figures at Penn State.

The college will be asked to prepare almost fifty per cent more young men for business careers this year than ever before. Commerce and finance courses stand next to electrical in popularity, with mechanical engineering a close third. There will be more in the forestry department than ever before. Popular selection of these courses over others naturally causes unequal division of limited numbers, and leads Registrar A. H. Espenshade to consider applications until September first from well prepared students for the schools of agriculture and mining, the courses in industrial and architectural engineering, chemistry and preparatory to medicine.

The dairy extension service of the Pennsylvania State College school of agriculture was instrumental in securing 340 registered bulls for co-operative bull associations throughout the state during the past year.

Ten thousand Pennsylvania farmers received assistance in balancing dairy rations through the dairy extension department of the Pennsylvania State College in the year ending July 1, 1921.

A total of 281 silos were built in Pennsylvania during the past year.

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

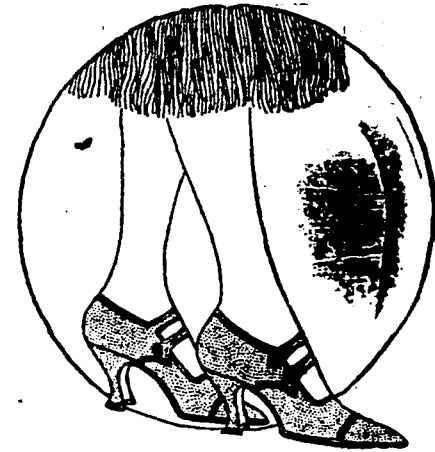

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizzy spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness, and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

Odd Assam Marriage Custom.

One of the strangest of marriage customs is that observed by some of the women of Assam. There the bride sometimes takes the initiative. She goes to fetch the bridegroom, and it is etiquette for him to hide and resist until carried off. Women of means are permitted to choose a temporary husband, and, when tired of him, lay him off and take another.

MANY 80TH DIVISION VETS WILL GO TO CONVENTION

WHY SID MISSED HIS LAST SHOT PUZZLES NATIVES

A large delegation of world war veterans of this city are preparing to attend the second annual reunion of the 80th (Blue Ridge) Division, which will be held in Pittsburgh on August 4, 5, 6, and 7.

The men of this famous Division were drawn from Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and other points and trained at Camp Lee, Virginia. The Division sailed for France in May, 1918, and participated in the hardest fighting on the British front, St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives.

Elaborate plans are being completed under the supervision of Brigadier-General Lloyd M. Brett, retired, at Pittsburgh aided by the Pittsburgh city county, Chamber of Commerce, and other civic organizations to insure the success of what is expected to be the biggest convention of veterans held yet in any city of the United States. Over 15,000 will be present.

Picnics, National League ball games, boat excursions, battle-field moving pictures and many other unique and special entertainments are on the program which will provide a continuous round of events for the veterans during their three days stay in the city.

Shooting Started When Wife Of Chambers Is Claimed To Have Attacked Detective.

Welsh, W. Va., Aug. 2.—Why Sid Hatfield, considered a dead shot, did not reach the mark with one of the many bullets alleged to have been fired before he met his death in a gun battle in the courthouse yard here yesterday is the chief topic of conversation among natives who are familiar with the mountaineer's ability with a gun.

It is alleged witnesses have said Hatfield dropped with the first shot, but raised on one arm and emptied a revolver from his coat pocket. Before he died two other pistols were brought into play but without effect. Shooting is said to have started when Mrs. Ed Chambers, wife of one of the slain men, mounted the court house steps and attacked B. E. Lively, a Baldwin Falls detective who is charged with shooting Hatfield. Mrs. Chambers attacked Lively with an umbrella and shooting started. Lively and H. H. Lucas, also arrested, are said to have started a cross-fire at Hatfield and Chambers as they came forward.

Mrs. Hatfield claims Sid was unarmed as he entered the court house yard.

Social Action and Affection. Among the delusions which at different periods have possessed themselves of the minds of large masses of the human race, perhaps the most curious—certainly the least creditable—is the modern "sol-disant" science of political economy, based on the idea that an advantageous code of social action may be determined irrespectively of the influence of social affection.—Ruskin.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

Mr. Robert Way, an old time resident of Pike township, died at his home a short distance from Bridgeport Sunday morning, after an illness covering a period of several years. He was in his 78th year, and is survived by a family of grown up children. His funeral was held on Tuesday, interment of the body being made in the Fairview cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, who resides at Millersburg, Pa., are visiting with relatives and friends over in the South Side. They were former residents of Curwensville. Mr. Brown is connected with an electric and coal company.

Mrs. Edward Ardary, nee Miss Ammann, and formerly a Curwensville young lady, but now living in one of the eastern counties, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Sarah Ammann, and other brothers and sisters in Curwensville this week.

James Black is improving the exterior of his Pike street home this week by going over the building with a fresh coat of paint. The roof is also receiving considerable attention in the painting line.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Jameson arrived in Curwensville the other day from Florida, making the entire trip in an automobile. They are at present guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kester on West Ridge Avenue.

Mrs. Paul Clifford and two children residents of Scranton, Pa., are at present visiting in the home of Mrs. Lucetta Lines at her home over on the South Side.

Mrs. George Kaplan and several children of New York City are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Kantar, this place.

The funeral of Lewis E. Shearer whose body was brought from France and landed in Curwensville last Thursday for burial, took place on Sunday afternoon at half past 1 o'clock, from the M. E. church, Rev. Dr. Collins preaching a short scriptural sermon. Joshua Sipes Post had charge of the body. A large number of the Legion turned out in uniform to pay last sad tribute to their comrade who gave up his young life for the honor of his country. The Crescent band led the funeral cortege, followed by the Legion with a firing squad, the relatives and friends immediately in the rear. At the cemetery several hundred people had assembled to witness the last sad rites.

Lewis Shearer was the only son of G. A. and Rose (LaPorte) Shearer, and was born July 27th, 1895. At the breaking out of the World's War he enlisted March 7th, 1918 and was taken to San Antonio, Texas, and thence to Camp Morrison, Va., and assigned to the 43d Balloon Company, A. E. F., and in June 30th, 1918, was sent across the sea and to the front. He served faithfully until January 30th, 1919 when he gave up his life for the cause. At the time of his enlistment he was serving as cashier for the Adams Express Company at Erie and stood high in the esteem of his superiors. Letters received from his army officers speak very highly of him as a proficient soldier, never known to shirk a hazardous duty or disobedient to an order given him. Sleeping, quietly beside his mother who preceded him to the grave, his memory will be forever kept green by those who knew him best. Taken off in the prime of vigorous manhood his demise proved a sad blow to his father and other relatives, but it is some satisfaction to know that his body now reposes in a cemetery where it can be visited at intervals and receive the care of remembering friends and comrades.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartelli are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Blake.

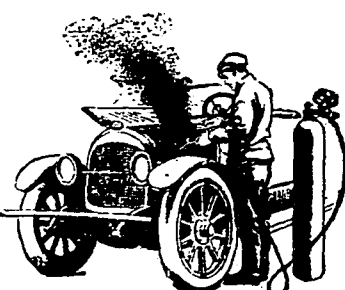

Mrs. Raymond Sipes and little daughter have returned home from month's visit with friends at a distance.

Dollar Day is now a date of history. There was a goodly number of people in town during the day and the merchants who were in on this sale did a thriving business. Every purchaser got full value.

Way to Detect Forgery.

For decision of forgery and identification of handwriting it is best to turn the writing upside down, according to tests made by the psychology department of the University of Wisconsin at the Universal exposition, where 257 persons tested their ability to discover forgery. Ten signatures on two cards were submitted to visitors, and one of the ten was false. For discovering the false one, the inverted card was found most helpful. This condition is explained by the fact that for fine judgments it is best to pay attention only to the form of the writing.

Carbon!

Hard carbon deposit—the cause of most motor troubles—is chiefly due to the use of compounded motor oils.

When a compounded oil comes into contact with the intense heat in your cylinders, the light oils burn off, leaving a thick gummy residue which forms carbon.

Sunoco Motor Oil eliminates hard carbon deposit because it is a non-compounded, wholly-distilled oil.

Use Sunoco and you no longer need worry about carbon. We will tell you which of the six Sunoco types fits your engine.

"Here's a 'medium' oil that remains 'medium'"

Two "medium" oils of exactly the same shade, density or flow may develop vastly different characters under the running conditions of the motor—

Depending on what they contain and how they were refined.

The highest degree of refining skill is required to select and extract from the crude petroleum those hydrocarbons best suited for motor lubrication; then to purify and blend them into a balanced lubricant that will meet the wide range of temperatures under which a motor oil must operate.

Ask definitely for ATLANTIC MEDIUM and you'll get an oil that remains "medium"—that holds its "body" as permanently as it is scientifically possible to make it; yet flows freely to the closest-fitting bearing surfaces. An oil that carries that most important of all essentials to quality—proper refinement.

Only a long-established organization, with boundless facilities and a world-wide market for all the products of crude petroleum, can produce a motor oil like Atlantic to sell at the price you pay for it.

Give yourself fifteen minutes to read this booklet, "The Story of Motor Oils." Written especially for you and your fellow motorists. Send for it. No charge.

Grades on Withner street. He also asked Council to fill up the Second Ward hose house lot, which in its present condition is an eye sore to Withner street and should be remedied.

Fourth Street Bonds Approved
Borough Solicitor J. M. Urey presented form of bond for $15,000 Fourth street paving issue, and same was approved by Council.

The Solicitor Also Reported Collections of $117.65 and presented check for same.

Park Improvement to Go On
Secretary A. B. Reed of Shade Tree Commission, was present and asked for an additional appropriation of $300 in order that Upper Withner Park improvement program might be carried out this year. The appropriation was authorized. The Shade Tree Commission has placed a water line in park and will erect a drinking fountain therein, as well as replant several score shade trees, grade and level the ground and seed it down in grass.

Sewer Building to Start
Chairman McCloskey, of the Sewer Committee recommended the building of a 24-inch relief drain from the river at the foot of Pine street up Fourth as far as their $10,000 appropriation would carry it. The recommendation was acceptable to Council and the committee directed to proceed at once with the work.

winners repeatedly to have screens placed over all the windows, but the matter was called to the attention of the May Grand Jury and that body directed in their report that these screens be placed at once, and while it is not proposed to criticize or find fault with anybody, it is to be regretted that this order was not complied with. Had it been, Heinzy's escape would have been impossible.

Heinzy's Description.
Harry Heinzy is an Englishman. He is 32 years of age, 5 feet 4 inches in height and when placed in jail on July 23, 1920, weighed 118 pounds. He has dark hair, smooth face and is very much pigeon-toed. When he escaped he was wearing a dark blue suit, soft shirt and dark cap. He is a blacksmith by trade and usually worked about the coal mines, and is a skillful mechanic.

The County Commissioners of Clearfield county offer a reward of $300 for his apprehension and delivery to Sheriff Gorman.

Local Man Says He Saw Heinzy
It is thought that the party or parties who assisted Heinzy in his getaway were waiting for him near the jail and rushed him out of this county in an automobile, while it is also contended that he left town on a Lake Shore freight.

Sol Litz, local jitney driver, contends that he saw Heinzy skulking along the road out near Clearfield Creek early last evening. He insists that he recognized Heinzy whom he saw at the trial and knows by sight.

Reported Seen Near Salem Church
In addition to this story the Sheriff's office was notified this morning that a man closely answering Heinzy's general description was seen walking the Harbison-Walker tram road out near Salem church in the hills back of Blue Ball. The party who saw the man he claims was the escaped murderer says that he was traveling the road past Salem church and noticed a man slipping furtively along the tram road and when this man saw the traveler on the road he sprang from the tram road into the bushes and disappeared as though fearful of being seen.

Krebs Station Man Also Saw Him
In this connection also Roy Parks, who lives out near Krebs station in the same general direction and but a few miles from where the man was seen on the tram road, says a man answering the description of Heinzy made an attempt to enter the kitchen of his home Sunday night, but made off into the woods when he found the people in the house were aroused.

They do not think she was killed at or near the place her body was found, but was slain elsewhere and brought to this point, where road and river run close together, and thrown Tennis in Ancient Days.

Henry VII was a special devotee of tennis, and had a court built for himself at Windsor, whilst Henry VIII it was who built the famous court at Hampton court, where it may be seen to this day. Tennis was indeed ever a game of kings and princes. Kings of England and kings of France vied with one another in their devotion to it, whilst the courts of both countries followed the royal lead. The faithful Pepys is peculiarly faithful in his references to tennis.

Auditory Nerves.

The action of the ear is this. A sound is transmitted from some position, causing a disturbance in the air. This disturbance is collected by the outer ear, passed down the connecting passage, and strikes the skin of the drum, causing it to vibrate. The drum in turn communicates its vibrations to the oval window. Thence they travel to the liquid of the inner ear, and the hearing nerve gathers them up and transmits them to the brain.

Great Things.

The gravest events dawn with no more noise than the morning star makes in rising. All great developments complete themselves in the world, and modestly wait in silence, praising themselves never, and announcing themselves not at all. We must be sensitive, and sensible, if we would see the beginnings and endings of great things.—Beecher.

It's nippy but it's nice. That is, of course, if you have a figure adapted to "nippiness." The new fall walking suit is nipped in at the waist, with a flare out of the coat skirt that would satisfy the most extreme college bean brummet.

Pennsylvania Leads Country In Classes For Industrial Work

State College, Pa., Aug. 2.—The annual report of N. C. Miller, supervisor of the engineering extension division of the Pennsylvania State College, just issued, in addition to containing a complete history of the department's fifteen years of effort, gives evidence that Pennsylvania still leads all other states in taking valuable instruction to the industrial classes. Night classes in thirty-two communities of the state during the past year were attended by over four thousand working men. New home study groups and correspondence courses fostered by the college with the co-operation of scores of industrial establishments make a high water mark of 7,385 workers receiving the benefit of this branch of State College effort. Sixty cities and communities in the state were represented in the program of the past year. One hundred and twenty-seven instructors cared for 186 classes and home study groups.

Featuring the reopening of extension work this Fall will be the addition of college credit course to the program. Supervisor Miller points out that in recent years the work has brought employers of labor to believe that there is great necessity for the further education of their men. The engineering extension work has become an important factor with many industries in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Altoona, Allentown, York, Lancaster, Harrisburg, Williamsport, and New Castle.

Presidents Who Served Two Terms.
The first president to serve eight years was Jefferson, who was followed in turn by Madison and Monroe, eight years each. Then came John Quincy Adams, who had one term only. He was followed by Jackson with two full terms, ending in 1837. Then came a break of 40 years, until 1877, before President Grant retired after eight years' occupancy of the White House. Cleveland served eight years, 1885-89 and 1893-97, but his two terms were interrupted by that of Benjamin Harrison, 1889-93.
